County Employee Lobbying

I recently received and researched the answer to a question that I thought many of our members might benefit from reading the answer. If you are a county employee (not an elected official) that interacts with members of the Iowa Legislature, do you know when you are required to register as a lobbyist under Iowa law?

Definition of Lobbyist

There are four types of activities that classify a person as a lobbyist under Iowa Code §68B.2(13)(a) and two of those could apply to county employees. First, if you are “a designated representative of an organization which has as one of its purposes the encouragement of the passage, defeat, approval, veto, or modification of legislation, a rule, or an executive order before the general assembly, a state agency or any statewide elected official” then you are a lobbyist. ISAC would likely be considered this type of organization, as well as any of the organizations that are affiliates of ISAC. There is, however, a specific exemption that might apply to lobbying on an ISAC or affiliate organization initiative and will be discussed below.

Second, if you represent “the position of a federal, state, or local government agency, in which [you] serve or [are] employed as the designated representative, for purposes of encouraging the passage, defeat, approval, veto or modification of legislation, a rule, or an executive order by members of the general assembly, a state agency, or any statewide elected official” then you are a lobbyist. This part of the definition could be tricky for county employees lobbying on a bill that matters to their county. Arguably, county employees wouldn’t typically be the designated representative of the county for lobbying purposes, unless there has been some kind of action taken designating the county employee as such. However, the only guidance we have on this topic are the Attorney General Opinion and Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board Advisory Opinion discussed below. The scenarios dealt with in each of these opinions involved elected county officials (county attorney and treasurer), as opposed to a county employee. Elected officials have an exemption from the definition of lobbyist that applies specifically to them, and not county employees. Excluded from the definition of lobbyist is “[a]ll federal, state, and local elected officials, while performing the duties and responsibilities of office.” Iowa Code §68B.2(13)(b)(3) (emphasis added). Therefore, a lot of the analysis we have to rely on for this topic focuses on whether lobbying on a particular bill relates to an elected official’s duties and responsibilities of office. Because that exemption does not apply to county employees, it becomes more of a grey area as to whether lobbyist registration is necessary.

There is one exclusion to the definition of lobbyist that likely applies to a majority of the members of ISAC and (members of organizations that are affiliates of ISAC) when lobbying. Iowa Code §68B.2(13)(b)(7) states a lobbyist does not mean “[a]n individual who is a member, director, trustee, officer, or committee member of a business, trade, labor, farm, professional, religious, education, or charitable association, foundation, or organization who either is not paid compensation or is not specifically designated.” Both ISAC and the organizations that are affiliates of ISAC would likely be considered professional or charitable associations. See Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board Advisory Opinion, 2002-07 (determined that the Iowa Treasurer’s Association was a professional association for purposes of the definition of lobbyist) and Iowa Attorney General Opinion 1197 WL 458658 (determining that the Iowa County Attorneys Association and ISAC were likely professional associations for purposes of the definition of lobbyist).

Are you the Designated Representative of ISAC or an Affiliate Organization of ISAC?

This is the most difficult part of the analysis for two reasons. One, because both the Attorney General’s office and the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board have stated that the idea of designated representative should be interpreted broadly. See Iowa Attorney General Opinion 1197 WL 458658 (stating that the professional association need not “take any formal action specifically designating...one of its representatives” for lobbying purposes) and Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board Advisory Opinion, 2002-07 (stating “[t]he Board does interpret the term ‘designate’ broadly in order to prevent individuals from avoiding public disclosure of lobbying activities by acting on ‘behalf’ of an association but not being ‘formally designated.’”).
Second, the determination of whether someone has been designated or is acting on behalf of their affiliate organization would be a very fact-specific determination that could change over time. Neither the Iowa Attorney General Opinion or the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board Advisory Opinion discussed above reached conclusions as to whether the elected county official was a designated representative of their affiliate association or ISAC. Megan Tooker, Executive Director with the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board described her interpretation of the distinction this way: “I think the key to whether someone is ‘designated’ is whether the person is authorized to speak on behalf of the entity. If I’m a member of Ducks Unlimited and I tell my legislator ‘I’m a hunter and a member of Ducks Unlimited and I think you should vote in favor of SF127 because . . . .’ the individual does not need to register. If, however, a member of Ducks Unlimited tells a legislator or executive branch official ‘On behalf of Ducks Unlimited and its members, I’m asking you to vote in favor of SF127 because . . . .’ then that individual needs to register.” Email from M. Tooker to K. Harshbarger dated June 29, 2016.

As you can see from this example, it may be important for county employees to be aware of the proper language to use so as to make it clear that they are speaking as a member of ISAC or an affiliate organization of ISAC, but are not authorized to speak on behalf of the entire association. For the standard member of ISAC or an affiliated organization of ISAC, the risk is very low that they will be considered the designated representative of the organization for lobbying purposes. It would be unmanageable for every member of every organization that lobbies before the Iowa Legislature to register as a lobbyist. Having information on this issue and the rules governing lobbying, however, can help avoid any potential misunderstanding.

County employees that are designated as the legislative liaison for organizations that are affiliates of ISAC should likely register as lobbyists. If they choose not to do so, they should consider how they would prove they were not the organization’s designated representatives for lobbying (for example the use of paid lobbyists for the organization and considering an explicit prohibition for the legislative liaisons to speak on behalf of all of the organization). Because there is no penalty for unnecessarily registering as a lobbyist, my recommendation would be that the organization’s legislative liaisons register as lobbyists. The minor hassle created by registering would be outweighed by the benefit of allowing the legislative liaisons of the organization freedom to lobby as necessary without the risk of violating the law.

Conclusion
In conclusion, here is a summary of my advice on whether lobbyist registration is required for county employees in the following scenarios:

• Legislative Liaison for an affiliate organization of ISAC? Register.
• Board of Supervisors gives you authority to be the county representative on a particular bill/issue or legislative matters that impact your department? Register.
• Any other members of ISAC/ISAC’s affiliate organizations? Have a basic grasp of the rules governing lobbying and lobbyist registration. Understand that you can speak to legislators about bills and provide your opinion as a member of ISAC and your affiliate organization, but you do not have authority to speak on behalf of the entire organization. Registration not necessary.

Remember, if you are an elected official, you do not need to register if your lobbying activities are within the scope of your office’s duties and responsibilities. That analysis, however, could take up an entire additional magazine article, so I will save that for another day. When in doubt, feel free to contact me, Megan Tooker with the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board, and/or your county attorney.
ISAC Voting Videos Released

Over the past couple of years ISAC has begun to add videos to its communications arsenal. A series of legislative priorities videos and the We Are ISAC video were our first attempts. In brainstorming ideas internally as to what would offer the maximum amount of benefit to our members, we decided to move forward with the creation of videos about auditors in their role as commissioners of elections.

We are excited to unveil three videos that are now available on our Iowa Counties YouTube channel entitled 1. Registering to Vote, 2. Voting Absentee, and 3. Voting on Election Day. We hope that you enjoy them and find them useful!

Work began in October of 2015 with a brainstorming committee of many auditors from across the state and ISAC staff. Using the feedback from that meeting, the project grew into a series of three videos that meet the original goals of the committee which include:

- Increasing voters
- Educating voters
- Eliminating fear and intimidation
- Informing about county government
- Informing about the role of the county auditor as the commissioner of elections
- Breaking down the walls of people who haven’t voted or haven’t voted in a long time

In order to get all of this important information across to a vast and varied target audience we knew that we had to make the subject matter light, brief and watchable. We did so by adding humor while still offering the utmost respect to the process, to the office of auditor and its role as election administrators, and also to the military.

We will be asking all ISAC members to share these videos far and wide over the next couple of months and leading up to the General Election in November. Post them on your county’s website and social media sites and on your personal sites as well. Share them with your legislators, schools, community service organizations, and your local media. We need your help to push the message, and we will provide you with templates to do so along the way.

This was an extremely complex project that couldn’t have been done without help from a large group of people. Several thank yous are definitely in order. The whole project was given amazing direction by the brainstorming committee of auditors - Grant Veeder, Sandy Hysell, Marcia Carter, Jessica Lara, Marge Pitts, Peggy Rice, Eric VanLancker, and Travis Weipert. The ISAC Board of Directors and the ISACA Executive Committee committed funding to this project. The Secretary of State’s office, specifically, Secretary Pate, Carol Olson, Dawn Williams, Michael Ross, and many other staff members were instrumental in providing feedback and oversight as well as allowing us to film in their office. Many thank yous also go to the Octagon Center for the Arts in Ames, the Department of Administrative Services, the State Law Library, Matt Parrott, ElectionSource, Henry M. Adkins and Sons, the Iowa National Guard, the Iowa State University Army ROTC, and many other auditors and individuals who dedicated their time, props, space, ideas, talents, etc. to the project. Lastly, a special thanks to the team at Laser Resources, Inc. who produced these videos including director Jack Meggers and videographer Loren Eckhart, and to actor and comedian Tim Schifsky.

Andrea Jansen and Robin Harlow reported that the 2017 Smart Connections Conference will be joining with the ICTS Advisory Committee Conference to make for a joint, two-day conference that will cover general technology subjects for non-technical county officials and employees. A track for IT professionals will continue to be offered on the second day.

President McCalmant adjourned the meeting following board members sharing issues, concerns, ideas achievements, etc. with other board members.

CSN Overview
The Community Services Network (CSN) is a software package that gives entities across Iowa access to a centralized repository of client information. Through CSN, entities are able to integrate with county auditor accounting systems; access and update client medical information; track client progress and service history; and determine client eligibility, residency, and legal standing all in real-time. By having access to this vital information, local care coordinators are able to provide a better continuum of care even if a client has moved from another region, is using a new provider, is incarcerated, or is unable to personally provide their medical history.

While Mental Health and Disability Services (MH/DS) makes up a large portion of CSN’s usage, CSN incorporates other service entities as well and has continued to grow and change since its formation. In light of this, we would like to take a moment to review the entities we serve and how they use the CSN system.

Mental Health and Disability Services (MH/DS) Regions
On June 30, 2014 mental health services in Iowa were organized into MH/DS Regions, transitioning from a county-based to a region-based system. MHDS Regions are consortiums of counties created to coordinate community services that assist persons with disabilities attain their maximum level of independence. MHDS Regions utilize CSN to create budgets, process regional claims, enter all facets of client management, and generate state-mandated and ad hoc reports.

Targeted Case Management (TCM)
Targeted Case Management helps Medicaid members with chronic mental illness, intellectual disabilities, brain injury, and/or developmental disabilities access interrelated medical, social, and educational services. Targeted Case Managers use CSN to coordinate client services, bill Managed Care Organizations, submit service referrals, and enter client care plans, case notes and narratives.

County Community Services
All 99 Iowa counties provide a wide range of community services that fall outside of MH/DS and many use CSN to pay community services claims at a county level. County Community Services include General Assistance, Substance Abuse, and Veterans Assistance.

General Assistance (GA)
General Assistance (GA) is provided on a county level and services offered differ from county to county. Common GA services include financial assistance for individuals and families to pay for clothing, furniture, funeral services, health supplies, property taxes, food, rent, utilities, and household/personal items. GA applicants must meet eligibility, residency, and income requirements. By providing GA, counties attempt to ensure their residents do not fall through the cracks during periodic times of financial need or while awaiting approval of long-term services. County GA programs use CSN for client management, to determine client eligibility, and to process GA claims.

Substance Abuse (SA)
While Substance Abuse programs are administrated on a county level, there is a large amount of treatment overlap with regional MH/DS programs. The comprehensive nature of CSN makes coordinating these services more effective for clients and providers. Substance Abuse programs use CSN for client management and to process claims.

Veterans Assistance (VA)
While medical assistance is provided to veterans on a federal level, counties can use CSN to process Veterans Assistance administrative claims.

Mental Health Advocates (MHAs)
Mental Health Advocates are the newest addition to the CSN family of entities, with the on-boarding process beginning in fall of Providers
Providers of Home- and Community-Based Services (HCBS) Waiver and Habilitation services are also a recent addition to the growing list of CSN entities. The inclusion of providers came about from identifying the need to report on client outcomes. Providers are using CSN to increase data integrity with standardized outcomes that allow care coordinators to more accurately assess plan success. Standardized outcomes are based on the Five-Star Quality measurement system. Measures include community inclusion based on spiritual, civic and cultural involvement; somatic care; community living based on a safe, affordable and accessible living environment; and employment. Additional types of providers will be on-boarded as more outcomes are added. Currently, providers access CSN via a portal, but will have specialized roles and direct access with the release of CSN 3.0 - the new version of CSN that is currently in development.

What Else Can CSN Do For You?
CSN users have 24/7 access in any location with internet access, secure off-site data storage, and daily backups. CSN’s shared maintenance and development costs structure help reduce entity spending. CSN reporting tools can help entities increase the validity and consistency of their data for improved planning, funding and performance measurement decisions. If you are interested in learning about expanding the ways your entity utilizes CSN or in using CSN as a general client management system, please contact jscott@iowacounties.org.

Welcome, Chris
I was born in the small town of LeMars. I am the oldest of four children. I believe being the oldest of four gave me dependability and responsibility. My parents raised my siblings and I in Sioux City, and then we relocated to Marshalltown during my freshman year of high school.

While living in Marshalltown I attended Marshalltown High School and was a four-year varsity wrestler. My senior year I placed 6th at the State Wrestling Tournament at 112lbs. I truly enjoyed the sport and all that I gained from it.

After high school I worked as a Line Supervisor for Sioux-Preme Packaging Co. in Sioux City. I later moved to Iowa City and was employed at Rocktenn Manufacturing. While living in Iowa City I met my now fiancé Brittney who is an RN at Mercy Medical, and recently accepted a position as a cardiac/telemetry nurse. We are currently raising two boys, a cat named Llyod, and a Shiba Inu dog named Thor.

While working in factories I decided to go back to school and further my education. I attended Kirkwood Community College where I found my passion for software developing. I graduated in May of 2016 with a Java Certificate and a .Net Certificate with an Applied Science Degree in Software Developing.

I recently took up golfing as a hobby, which I am quickly learning you need a lot of patience if you are not a natural Tiger Woods or Zach Johnson. None the less, I enjoy the summer greens, fairways, and the integrity of the game. In the fall I am a football fan and will be attending football games to cheer on my Iowa Hawkeyes and Dallas Cowboys. As a former wrestler I also enjoy the UFC and going to events to cheer on my favorite fighters.

Graduating from Kirkwood as a Software Developer is what brought me to ISAC, and I am confident that while working here I will learn new developing skills and new techniques while developing. I am very excited to start my new career as a .Net Developer and can’t wait to utilize my skills with this great team.

The IPERS Investment Board held its regular quarterly meeting on Thursday, June 23, 2016. As one of seven voting members on the Board, I attend these meetings that are designed to review and update the status of the current investments of the 28 billion dollar Iowa Public Employee Retirement System (IPERS). IPERS recently conducted an in-depth study to assess the needs of our retirement system members, both retired and active. Ten thousand calls were made and opinions were sought from IPERS members, their employers, policymakers and elected officials.

The survey revealed a number of interesting findings; many members believe our funding status or account balance determines benefit amounts, many believe it is possible to roll over their account to an IRA, and some think it is possible to borrow against an IPERS account. None of these are true. IPERS is a “Defined Benefit Plan,” which means our benefits are backed by the state of Iowa and not subject to our funding status. We also found that 30% of our members do not know our funding status, which is currently in the 85% range.

On the other hand, 90% of the respondents to the survey rated IPERS benefits as very good or excellent. Members feel IPERS is a good plan that provides clearly written benefit statements and they are confident that their benefits will be paid for life. In fact, it is interesting to note that we currently have more than 130 IPERS retirees who are over 100 years old who get benefits payments from IPERS.

Having said all that, this continues to be a challenging time for the Investment Board. Since 60% of future benefits will be paid from revenue earned on the IPERS fund balance, the Board must seek out those investments that will help meet our target of 7.5% annual return. As I write this, some government securities, such as the benchmark German 10-year Bond, have recently dropped as low as 0.02% yield and the Swiss equivalent actually has a negative yield. The Federal Reserve Chair Yellen suggested that low, long-term interest rates on government bonds may be the “new normal.”

On the positive side, the IPERS program 10-year Risk Report prepared by Willshire Associates projects our fund to earn 6.18%. Of course, we will continue to seek ways to increase that income to meet our 7.5% target. We are currently expanding our investments in better yielding categories that still have an acceptable risk level.

On a related topic, Governor Branstad recently signed HF 2331, a bill that prohibits state funds from investing in companies that boycott Israel. This ban will apply to the State Treasurer, Board of Regents and IPERS as well other state funds. These companies will be added to a list of other legally prohibited investments for our Fund.

The IPERS Investment Board occasionally gets requests from individuals or groups who ask us to avoid investing in companies for various reasons, such as their status as a fossil fuel company or the political activities of company management. Our Board generally feels that our obligation is to make the best investment possible for our members within limits of the law and our most important goal is meeting our funding needs.

During the first 11 months (July 2015 - May 2016) of our current fiscal year, IPERS has paid retirement benefits that total $1,655,877,225.71. We currently have 114,231 retirees receiving an average monthly benefit of $1,329.39. Interestingly, during those same 11 months, IPERS has notified 4,983 public employees in Iowa that they have reached age 70, and even though they are still employed they will begin receiving benefits.

As always, the IPERS staff can provide specific member counseling services for those who may be considering a retirement date. Please feel free to contact the IPERS office if you need any specific information about your benefits.
