What?

Stepping Up: A National Initiative to reduce the number of people with mental illness in jails.

The number of people with mental illness in U.S. jails has reached crisis levels. In counties across the nation, jails now have more people with mental illness than psychiatric hospitals.

Stepping Up asks communities to come together to develop an action plan that can be used to achieve measurable impact in local criminal justice systems of all sizes across the country.

As of May 2017, 41 Iowa Counties had signed a resolution and decided to take action in their communities.

This summit will feature keynote speakers and breakout sessions that are action oriented and will conclude with a planning session of each county team. Programming will be pertinent to communities at all levels - just signed the resolution to those that have programs in place.
